Marshall Is Given The Oath

In Conference With Chiefs of Staff After The Ceremony

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 —(AP)— Gen. George C. Marshall today became the nation's third secretary of defense and promptly went into a conference with the joint chiefs of staff, leaders of the military services.

Marshall took the oath at a private, early morning ceremony in the Pentagon attended only by five other persons.

A short time later, Marshall's special mission to China in 1945 came under discussion at President Truman's news conference.

The matter was brought up by a reporter who said Marshall, in testifying Tuesday before the Senate armed services committee, had disclaimed personal responsibility for this country's 1946 China policy.

Marshall appeared before the Senate committee at hearings on his nomination to be defense secretary.

Policy Toward China

The general said then that American policy toward China was worked out in the State Department while he himself was testifying to Congress in December, 1945, on the Pearl Harbor catastrophe. He said the policy was announced while he was on the way to China.

Mr. Truman commented today that Marshall wasn't secretary of state at the time he was sent to China.

He said Marshall went over to China as the president's special envoy at the request of the president and the then Secretary of State James F. Byrnes.

Busy Times Ahead

Marshall, Mr. Truman said, had instructions and they were in writing.

Marshall's oath as secretary of defense was administered by Felix Larkin, general counsel of the Defense Department.

Marshall has a busy schedule ahead of him for the next few days.

Tomorrow he will go to New York to meet with defense ministers of the western powers. But he declined in advance to say anything about plans for rearming Germany or any other issues that might come up at the meeting.

He also refused to discuss Gen. MacArthur's conduct of the war in Korea, explaining that he had been briefed only twice on operations there and had not inquired about overall strategy.

In other questions, he said:

1. He had not decided whether to continue as president of the Red Cross. He said he would stay on in that post at least until meeting in November, however, because of important decisions to be made about the Red Cross role in civilian defense.

2. He expected to confer immediately with Chairman Symington of the National Security Resources Board on the Red Cross Civil Defense matter. Symington's office has temporarily responsible for civil defense.

3. He had not talked to President Truman since the president telephoned him last week offering him the defense job.

An announcement of the ceremony, which was held at 8:45 a.m. EST, said that this private swearing-in was "in accordance with the wishes" of Marshall.

The new secretary immediately called a conference with the joint chiefs of staff.

The swearing-in ceremony was held in the office of the secretary of defense.

The way was cleared late yesterday for Marshall to succeed Louis Johnson, who left office quietly on Tuesday in obedience to President Truman's wishes.

By a 57 to 11 vote, the Senate confirmed Marshall's nomination Previously it and the House and the President had okayed legislation to permit Marshall to take the post, reserved by law for a civilian.

Marshall planned to take his second oath as a cabinet member in front of the desk used by General of the Armies John J. Pershing when Pershing was Army chief of staff.

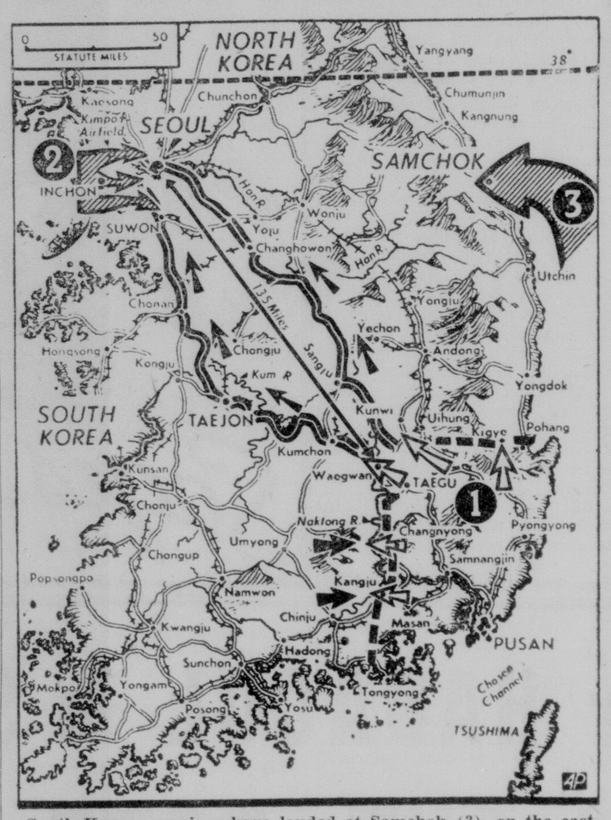

To Tribute Meeting

He was expected to set to work immediately, although one interruption faced him on his first day in office. He planned to keep a promise, made several weeks ago, to attend a tribute in Geneseo, N.Y., tonight to Rep. Wadsworth (R.-N.Y.), who is retiring this year.

Allies Establish Third Beachhead

South Korean marines have landed at Samchok (3), on the east coast of Korea opposite Seoul, to give United Nations forces their third beachhead in South Korea. The army said the landing occurred several days ago. In the old Pusan beachhead (1) the Allies are gaining on all fronts. Red reinforcements are being rushed from the southeast toward Seoul (2) in an effort to stem the Allied drive from the Inchon beachhead. U. S. Concern on High Cost of Living Voiced

President States Plans to Meet it Are Considerd

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—(AP) —President Truman said today he is concerned about the high cost of living and he is working on plans to meet it.

He told a news conference he will act as speedily as possible, but is trying to avoid the mistakes of the last world war.

The President said his administration does not want the nation to go through the travail of the last price control period when it had to follow the road of trial and error.

Mr. Truman was asked about wages not going up and prices rising fast. He said he agreed this was so and he is working on a plan.

Commenting on a statement made yesterday by Gov. Chester Bowles of Connecticut, former OPA administrator, favoring selective price controls, the President said that is being discussed, but no decision has been reached.

"Record Speaks For Itself"

Mr. Truman endorsed the attack by his special assistant, Averell Harriman, on Senator Taft (R-Ohio). In a speech before the AFL convention in Houston, Tex., Harriman accused Taft of furthering "the designs of the Kremlin" by his voting record on foreign policy.

Mr. Truman said the Taft record speaks for itself.

When a reporter asked whether he knew of many Democratic Senators whose records equalled or surpassed Tat's, the President replied very few and added:

There are more Republicans who voted right than Democrats who voted wrong, so the country still has a bi-partisan foreign policy.

The President said he was very well pleased with the record of congress now about to recess. He said it had given him not all, but substantially what he asked for in the way of legislation, and had accomplished the business it set out to do. He said he had no plans to campaign for election of Democrats to the new congress.

Was Special Envoy

Mr. Truman was asked at the outset today to comment on Sen. George C. Marshall's testimony before the Senate armed services committee. A reporter said Marshall disclaimed responsibility for this government's China policy in 1946 when he visited China on a special mission.

Mr. Truman replied that General Marshall at the time was not secretary of state, but a special envoy for him. He added that Marshall, sworn in today as the new secretary of deefense, had written instructions from him when he went to China.

The President said a new deputy secretary of defense to succeed Stephen T. Early, resigned, will be appointed as soon as possible and he is still looking for men to fill posts under the economic control act.

Mr. Truman predicted the foreign ministers meeting in New York will attain their objectives before they are through. He said

Tells of Work In Building At Schools

Superintendent of Schools Hunt is Kiwanis Speaker

Sedalia Kiwanians heard a review of the present school building program from Superintendent of Schools H. U. Hunt at the club meeting in Bothwell hotel Thursday noon.

He briefly outlined the procedures involved from the time of the May, 1946, bond issue up until the present when the various improvements are approaching completion.

Superintendent Hunt described the work being done on the following six projects and others: Broadway school where $31,000 is being spent; Horace Mann, $165,000; Hubbard high, $16,000; Jefferson, $1,500; Mark Twain, $1,650; Washington, minor repairs; Whittier, $110,000; Smith-Cotton, $310,000; new cafeteria building, $150,000. Improvements include fire proofing with concrete corridors, etc.; new lighting; painting, new auditoriums and gymnasiums, conversions to gas heating, miscellaneous new equipment and many other items.

I. H. Reed was program chairman.

Will Have Parade

A. W. Klang announced plans for National Kids Day which is being sponsored nationally by Kiwanis clubs and told of the local club's preparations for it. There will be a parade Saturday, lead by the Smith-Cotton high school band following which children will attend moving picture shows at the Uptown theatre and Hubbard high.

W. M. Johns called attention to the possible transfer of one of the club's members, the Rev. H. U. Campbell, to another town at the next church conference. His motion was unanimously passed that this information be referred to the board of directors for action in writing a letter to the church bishop expressing the high regard the club held for the Rev. Mr. Campbell, of his service to the community of Sedalia as well as his church, and request he be retained in Sedalia, if it is reasonably possible to do so. The board met immediately afterwards and took favorable action upon the matter.

Mrs. Lela Parker was a guest of Arthur J. Morgan, and made a brief announcement concerning the play she is directing for the Lions club, "Crazy Daze," and inviting Kiwanis support.

Defeat Russia In UN on The China Charges

Consider That Soviet Union Had Aided The Reds

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(AP)— Russia was defeated today in an attempt to prevent consideration by the U. N. general assembly of Nationalist China's charges that the Soviet Union aided the Chinese Communists to power.

The assembly's 14-nation steering committee defeated the Russian move 11 votes to two. The negative votes were cast by the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia. India abstained. Nationalist China's charges against Russia first were raised at the 1949 assembly session.

Russia also was defeated, 12 to two, an its efforts to keep the old Green-Balkan question off the assembly's agenda. A Russian objection to opening the Spanish question to assembly debate was not decided immediately.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky raised his objections in the steering committee which proceeded rapidly with its task of working out the agenda for the assembly's fifth session.

Power To Combat

The steering committee began plotting the assembly's work after Secretary of State Dean Acheson submitted a four-point plan to give the assembly military power to combat aggression anywhere in the world.

During committee argument on China, Vishinsky referred to the Chinese Nationalists as "phantoms and ghosts" who have no legal right to be heard as representatives of the Chinese people. The Nationalists, he declared, are "ghosts who have been thrown on an historic garbage heap."

Vishinsky said there is an issue of threats against China but only because "of the aggressive acts of the United States." This was a reference to President Truman's order to the U. S. seventh fleet to patrol the Strait of Formosa to prevent a spread of the Korean war throughout the Orient.

John Foster Dulles, Acheson's Republican adviser, described the new Acheson plan as "the most improtant proposal for international peace and security put forth" since the end of World War II. It will be Dulles' job to push it through the 59-nation assembly.

Co-Chairmen In Chest Drive

Abe Silverman, Jack Cunningham Are Appointed

Abe Silverman, district manager of the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company, and Jack Cunningham, manager of the Sedalia Ice and Cold Storage Company, have been appointed co-chairmen of Internal Solicitations of the Community Chest by C. W. Stephenson, chairman of the men's division.

The responsibility rests on the shoulders of Mr. Silverman and Mr. Cunningham to encourage in the larger business and industry a payroll deduction plan so that employees may pay their pledge to the Community Chest in small portions weekly or semi-weekly or monthly during the whole year.

Cunningham and Sliverman stated that in view of the 50% increase of the overall Community Chest budget, two of the main contributing factors to its success will be the pledge system and everyone donating a day's pay.

Provided With Maps

One of the problems which confronted Vivian Warren, chairman of the women's division of the Community Chest was that of supplying to her many chairman maps of the city showing the respective districts each will solicit during the 1950 Drive.

Thanks are expressed to the J. A. Lamy Manufacturing Company for coming to the assistance of the Community Chest by reproducing the necessary maps, without question and without loss of time. John Pelham, Walter Borney, Technician, and Curtis Howard, Foreman of the Cutting Room, saw to it that the job was completed quickly.

These maps will be distributed, each specially marked, to approximately 30 Chairmen.

House Rejects Move to Ban Economic Aid

Approval is Given A Substitute as To Military Aid

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 —(AP)— The House refused today to impose an outright ban on economic aid to nations carrying on military trade relations with Russia or her satellites.

Instead, it approved a provision giving the National Security Council power to halt aid to any nation whose trade with Russia is found to be "contrary to the security interests of the United States."

The provision approved was backed by President Truman's forces as a substitute for a Senate-voted stiff prohibition against U. S. aid to countries which export to Russia "arms or armaments or military material or articles or commodities" that are useful for military purposes.

The main difference between the Senate provision and the House plan is that the latter gives the Security Council, of which President Truman is head, discretion in determining when economic aid should be halted. The Senate provision did not allow this leeway.

Opposed by Truman

The Senate wrote its plan into a $17,000,000,000 emergency defense appropriation bill and President Truman flatly opposed it.

The administration plan was offered by Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the House appropriations committee.

Most Republicans favored a less flexible plan.

Only one House member, Rep. Rankin (D-Miss), spoke today in behalf of the Senate amendment.

The amendment, sponsored by Senator Wherry (R-Neb) says in effect that any nation receiving economic help from the United States shall lose that help if it exports to Russia or her satellites arms or commodities that can be used for military purposes. The ban would apply only while United States forces are "actively engaged in hostilities" to back up United Nations Security Council decisions.

House Republicans and many southern Democrats are strongly in favor of the Wherry amendment.

Administration forces had planned for a showdown vote yesterday, but a nose count indicated they could not knock the amendment from the bill.

So they put off a final decision until today and Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the appropriations committee told newsmen he would have a compromise ready this afternoon.

Marines Hammering Toward The Heart of The Korean Capital

Korean Situation At a Glance

By the Associated Press

INCHON-SEOUL FRONT: Marines batter into Seoul from two directions, strike for heart of South Korean capital. Big battle for city looms. Comm nist "mystery" tank column from Manchuria believed across 38th parallel on way to reinforce Seoul Reds, as other Reds converge on area from southeast.

PUSAN BOX: Reds surrender in droves north of Taegu, where U.S. and South Koreans close pincers trap on Communist 13th Division. U. S. 25th Division advances in south against stiff resistance. South Koreans drive ahead mile and a half north of Pohang on east coast.

AIR WAR: Allied planes fly record heavy number of sorties in support of troops on Korean fronts, taking heavy toll of Red troops. B-29s hit Red training camp near Pyongyang, North Korea, and other targets.

Recess For U. S. Congress

Major Business Ahead Before it To November 27

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21—(AP) —Congress is in the process of winding up its business this week-end and President Truman said today it has given him substantially what he asked for.

He told a news conference he is very well pleased with Congress' work and thinks it has accomplished the purposes for which it met.

Democratic and Republican leaders have agreed to close up shop Saturday night—if possible —and to stay closed until Nov. 27.

Mr. Truman remarked that Congress members want to go home and attend to a little private business, and he is for them.

That business is electioneering for the November races. Asked whether he himself has any plans to campaign, Mr. Truman answered in one word: No.

Congress still wants to dispose of a few "must" measures and to stick around until Mr. Truman signs or vetoes the Communist control bill it sent him last night.

Backers of that measure are confident of enough votes to override a veto, if one comes, and they are determined not to budge from town until the bill becomes law.

Senate passage of the bill by a vote of 51 to 7 came several hours after the House approved it, 312 to 20. In both cases the margin was far wider than the two-thirds majority required to nullify a presidential dissent.

Still on the docket is this other major business:

1. The $4,700,000,000 tax increase bill. Senate-House conferees approved a compromise version yesterday and the two branches of Congress are expected to ratif it and send it to the President by tomorrow night. Mr. Truman's approval is taken for granted.

2. The $17,000,000,000 emergency defense bill carrying funds to build up America's might and help arm her Allies against Communist aggression.

The stumbling block in that bill is a Senate amendment which would choke off U.S. economic aid to countries which sell arms or war-potential goods to Communist nations.

Opposed by President Truman, the amendment is booked for a House vote today. Administration leaders hoped to turn up with a compromise which would satisfy both the President and supporters of the provision.

Decision to UN How Far to Go

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21—(AP) —President Truman said today the United Nations must decide whether U. N. forces are to drive beyond the 38th parallel dividing line in Korea.

The United States, the president said at his news conference, will abide by the decision the U. N. makes.

Mystery Column Of Reds Moving Down From The Manchuria Area

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21—(AP)—The army said today that no evidence has been received here that a column of reinforcements for the Korean Communists is moving south toward Seoul from Soviet-dominated Manchuria.

A briefing officer told reporters he felt that if Gen. Douglas MacArthur had any word of enemy troops moving down from the north the supreme commander would have informed the Pentagon here.

There have been instances where field dispatches from Korea have been far ahead of official reports to the Pentagon. There was no way of telling whether this might be the case in connection with the reported reinforcements from the north.

By Russell Brines

TOKYO, Sept. 21—(AP)—It may take another week to secure Seoul, Lt. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr., Pacific fleet Marine force commander, reported tonight on his return from the central Korean battle zone.

Shepherd said additional Marine units were being landed today at Inchon and rushing to the front.

Returning to Tokyo aboard General MacArthur's plane "Scap" along with MacArthur, key staff officers and five correspondents, Shepherd predicted that snipers would be troublesome in Seoul.

He said house-to-house fighting already had begun in Yongdungpo, Seoul's southwest industrial suburb. One hundred Marine casualties, mostly wounded, were reported in sharp fighting for Yongdungpo this morning, the Marine general noted.

By Leif Erickson

TOKYO, Sept. 21—(AP)—American Marines battled for ancient Seoul today while a Red mystery column was reported rolling down on the Korean capital from Soviet dominated Manchuria.

The nationality of manpower in the heavily-armored Communist column was not known to U.S. intelligence officers.

The Marines' entry into northwest Seoul's narrow streets was met by stiffening resistance.

Field dispatches reported the tank-led Leathernecks entered the city at 6 p.m. Wednesday (3 a.m. CST) from their Han river crossing eight miles downstream.

The swift Allied 10th Corps advance from the original second front landing beaches at Inchon, 220 miles away, appeared to have reached the slower house-to-house fighting phase. The Marines made it from the riverside into Seoul in 12 hours.

Big Battle Looms

A big battle seemed in prospect.

Besides the threat of the unidentified column of 40 tanks and 200 other vehicles approaching Seoul from the north, Korean Reds rushed into the city from several other directions. Many were from the old Allied beachhead perimeter in the southeast.

General Douglas MacArthur after a visit to a Marine sector west of Seoul, directly across the Han from the capital, went aboard the battleship Missouri off Inchon and then flew back to Tokyo. He had been at the second front since it opened on the Yellow sea shores last Friday.

Lt. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, commander of all Pacific fleet Marine forces, predicted it would be at least a week before Seoul is safe for an Allied victory parade.

"They could have made it tough for us," said Shepherd. "But we're on the north bank of the river and we're going to stay there."

Shepherd returned to Tokyo with MacArthur.

Entering in Outskirts

AP Corresponden Russell Brines reported the Marines' entry into Seoul's northwest outskirts. Brines said another Marine armored column swept over Seoul's nearest satellite airfield across the Han and was driving toward three partly wrecked

Kremlin in Midst of Ruthless Purge of Cominform Members as Axe Falls on Top Red Officials Who Deserted to Titoism

MAURICE THOREZ: A victim of Kremlin's axe.

LAURENTI CASANOVA: A leader in assassination

JACQUES DUCLOS: An oracle who is under fire.

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

PARIS—(NEA)—Fear of a new armed-world conflict resulting from the war in Korea and Moscow's aggressive moves in Berlin, Yugoslavia, Iran and elsewhere has caused a new rift in the Western parties of the Cominform.

A ruthless purge of Communist officials is now under way in France, Italy, Belgium and Eastern Germany.

Communist sources in France report that not since the purge of Marshal Tito—followed by the executions of Traicho Kostov and Laszlo Rajk, Bulgarian and Hungarian Party chieftains — have Stalin's secret agents waged such fierce warfare against key members of the Cominform.

The Kremlin's axe has already fallen on Paul Meartens—until recently undisputed Communist dictator of southern France—and on such Party faithfuls as Claude Aveline, Louis Martin-Chaffier and Clara Malraux.

Once the hard core of the Party's "intellectuals," these Reds have since deserted to Tito. Disappointed by the turn of events in Korea and by Soviet antics in the United Nations, they decided to follow in the footsteps of their American colleague, Lee Pressman.

Even Maurice Thorez and Jacques Duclos, the two oracles of French Communism, are said to be under fire. Whether they will suffer the fate of their comrades who were recently purged in Eastern Germany is not yet known. They may be retained as figureheads. But I am reliably informed that they have been stripped of all power.

The French Communist Party, the key organization in the Cominform, is today run by a group of ruthless young men—Laurenti Casanova, Theodore Vial and Henri Laborde—appointed directly by Moscow and responsible only to the Russian Politburo. They are former leaders of the Cominform's secret shock troops and commando detachments.

It is these "leaders" who are said to be responsible for the recent brutal assassinations of a number of Spanish Communist rebels who had been operating as Soviet agents on the Franco-Spanish frontier.

Moscow, satellite diplomatic sources report, is also facing increasing political difficulties in the satellite countries.

More than 700 Hungarian Army officers including three high ranking generals—Laslo Solyom, Imre Revai and Illi—have recently been arrested for attempted desertion to Tito.

The story of their arrest by the Russian M.V.D., as it was related to me, is the most fantastic that has as yet to come out of the Stalin-Tito conflict.

Last June, on the eve of the invasion of South Korea by the Reds, the Hungarian General Staff dispatched an army of 65,000 men to the Yugoslav border. But two weeks later most of the soldiers had to be disarmed and their officers arrested.

The Soviet M.V.D. discoverd in the nick of time that many of the soldiers and officers were preparing to cross the Yugoslav border as deserters. It took three Soviet divisions headed by Marshall Feodor Tolbuknin, to disarm and disperse the rebels.

General Laslo Solymon, former Hungarian Chief of Staff, is reported to have been executed. The other officers are still awaiting trial.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

As we get older, stress and strain, overexertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief — help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Here is a Dog Who is a Howling Financial Success

By NEA Service

LEXINGTON, Ky. — There are lots of wealthy dogs around. Some have mink jackets and gold plated collars. But Nigel the Sultan, a handsome Dalmatian, is the only dog who has his own checking account.

His paw-print is on file at the Security Trust Company here, among the signatures of the bank's other accounts. And his checks are duly processed and honored. It's all very legal.

Nigel's checking account was set up for him by his owner, J. H. Ransom. Ransom figured Nigel deserved it. After all, he was earning a comfortable income at stud, making anywhere from $50 to $250 apiece for the pups. As a successful businessman, Nigel should be able to spend a little here and there for little luxuries like liver and dog biscuits if he wanted to.

This is Nigel

And This is Oneof His Checks

It's a typical American story of success. Nigel is the son of an immigrant. His father, Nigel of Welfield, capped a brilliant career as a show dog with a championship at famous Madison Square Garden dog show.

The younger Nigel was well on his way to follow his father until an accident ended his career in his chosen profession. His leg was cut by a mower. But the versatile Nigel immediately took up another profession, as a stud dog. An he's a big success.

Ransom bought him four years ago. He wanted a sire with distinct black rings around his eyes, something his other Dalmatians lacked. Nigel obligingly produced sons and daughters with black eyes.

And now, the successful entrepreneur has his own checking account, with a picture of himself in the corner of each check. He has his own stationery, too, with the same picture on it.

The bankers aren't worried about the account. They know Nigel as an upstanding member of the community who has a steady income. They don't figure encountering any rubber checks or on his funds becoming insufficient.

But there is one thing puzzling them—how will Nigel manage to balance his account each month?

Don't Be Satisfiad With Symptomatic Relief --- It's Now Possible To

RELIEVE THE CAUSE OF YOUR SICKNESS

Neuritis Pains, Stomach Disturbances, Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn, Constipation, Certain Nervous Disorders When Due to Lack of Vitamins B_1, B_2, Iron and Niacin in Your System!

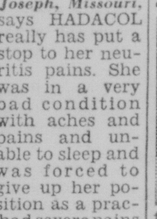

HADACOL One of the Greatest Blessings of the Times!

Just a Few of Thousands Upon Thousands of Interesting Records of Folks With Such Deficiencies Who Have Been Helped

Mrs. C. C. Keller, 1629½ Frederick Avenue, St. Joseph, Missouri, says HADACOL really has put a stop to her neuritis pains. She was in a very bad condition with aches and pains and unable to sleep and was forced to give up her position as a practical nurse. She had severe pains in wrists and stiffness in her hips, being almost unable to walk. Now after taking one bottle of HADACOL, she is able to do her own housework. She most enthusiastically recommends HADACOL to all sufferers from neuritis pains.

Floyd Mabe, 1401A South 7th Street, St. Louis, Missouri: "For some time after a wartime injury I had been troubled with neuritis pains in my legs and could not work. Nothing seemed to help me until I tried HADACOL. After taking a half bottle, I seemed to feel better. My wife told me it was only my imagination, but I continued to take HADACOL and up to the present have taken 13 bottles. Now I feel fine with no more pains in my legs." (HADACOL is so effective because it relieves THE REAL CAUSE of neuritis aches when due to such deficiencies. Why don't you give HADACOL a chance to help you?)

Link Robinson (a steel worker for over 20 years), 519 Lindsey, Newport, Kentucky: "When your stomach is in bad shape as mine, couldn't eat, gas pains, stomach bloating and nervousness, then your body doesn't get the proper foods it needs. My boss told me about HADACOL and I started taking it immediately. After the second bottle I could tell a definite improvement. Now I can eat anything I want to. Best of all I haven't got those terrific gas pains and stomach bloating."

Mrs. L. Crifasi, 327 N. 14th Street, Springfield, Illinois: "I am elated with the wonderful results obtained by taking HADACOL. I had emotional indigestion, which is stomach distress and makes a person feel down and out. HADACOL seemed to be prepared for my ailment, for it made a new woman of me."

Mrs. John Geary, 840 Ursuline Street, New Orleans, Louisiana: "I had such a nervous stomach I was unable to eat regularly. Lots of times I was unable to hold any food on my stomach. Then I heard about HADACOL. After the first few bottles I could tell a definite improvement. Now my stomach doesn't trouble me at all. I eat anything I want. HADACOL is wonderful. You can see that, if it did so much for me after suffering so." (A big improvement is often noticed within a few days' time. One of the many advantages of HADACOL is that continued use helps prevent such stomach distress from returning. Don't continue to suffer. Start taking HADACOL today!)

W. E. Hoxworth, a skilled maintenance man in Waco, Texas: "I almost had to give up my job because of suffering from stomach distress. I couldn't hold my food, as no food agreed with me. After hearing about HADACOL and completing a second bottle, I began to feel better and regain the weight I lost, and suffered no more indigestion. I now take HADACOL regularly to help stay well." (Why don't you try HADACOL?)

Mrs. J. Scieszinski, 514 Kruger, Ottumwa, Iowa: "My daughter, Marilyn Sue, is five years old and for some time lacked pep, had a poor appetite, was generally run-down. Since giving her HADACOL, we have noticed wonderful results. She has a much better appetite, eats everything on the table and doesn't seem tired like she used to. Incidentally, she likes to take her HADACOL, too." (Kiddies sure do like HADACOL.)

Miss Margaret Zimmerman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Riley Zimmerman, became the bride of Earl Robert Scheidt, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Scheidt, Monday morning, September 11 at 10 o'clock. The double ring ceremony was performed before the chancel rail of the Annunciation Catholic church in California by the Rev. Fr. F. J. Dillon. The altar vases held bouquets of gladioli, red roses and white mums.

The bride wore a wedding gown of petal white taffeta. The fitted bodice was topped by a bertha of the taffeta which formed small capped sleeves. The full ballerina length skirt had an overskirt of Chantilly lace in rose design. Her mantilla veil and long white mitts were of the Chantilly lace and she wore a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis centered with a purple orchid. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, William Zimmerman.

Mrs. Arthur Simmons of Mexico, Mo., sister of the bridegroom, was the matron of honor. She wore a gown of dusty rose taffeta styled like that of the bride and carried a bouquet of orchid gladioli and wore a matching hat of the flowers.

'Crazy Daze' Again Tonight

Audience Highly Amused by Lions Sponsored Comedy

"Crazy Daze," a play sponsored by the Sedalia Lions Club for the purpose of obtaining funds to pay for a telebinocular machine to be used in Sedalia schools to test eyes of children, opening in Smith-Cotton auditorium Wednesday night. It is to be given tonight for the last time, starting at 8:13 o'clock.

Although the play was not given before a packed house, it was enjoyed by those present. The entertainment strictly adheres to the title "Crazy Daze."

Home talent throughout, the production has a large chorus of school children, supported by several acts in which members of the Pettis Players portray various individuals from Hill Billies to a "peace-loving" city family.

The entertainment opened with a chorus line composed of high school girls. Mrs. Mae Moser and Miss Patricia Robinson accompanied the musical numbers on the piano.

Created Uproar

The crowd was kept in an uproar during the evening by Miss Dorothy Dey and Mrs. Emery Meyers, who dressed as hill-billies, circulated through the audience heckling various persons in the audience. Their ad libbing throughout the show brought plenty of applause.

Miss Bettye Ellsworth, who portrayed the part of a hill-billy girl who had ventured to the city to become the maid in the "peace-loving" family home received much applause over her comedian part. Your New Social Security

By Scott Webber
(Manager of the Sedalia Social Security Office)

In my first article, I described the social security law as your policy for old-age and survivors insurance and your social security card as the symbol of that policy. Perhaps you are among the more than three million now receiving monthly insurance payments under this law. If you're among the latter, your September check, scheduled to reach you early in October, will show the increased payments given you under the newly amended social security law.

How much will your increase be? Well, to be fair to you and the other current beneficiaries serviced by the office, I would have to give 2,000 answers to that question. There are that many people now getting old-age and survivors insurance payments in this area.

Obviously, I can't be specific. We must ask you to be patient and wait until your September check reaches you in early October. That check will tell you in dollars and cents just how much your benefit payments have been increased.

Range of Increase

I do want to say, however, that increases range from about 50 per cent for highest benefit groups to about 100 per cent for low benefit groups. For example, the average benefit of approximately $26 per month for a retired worker will be increased to about $46. If you are now getting $40 a month in payments as a retired worker your September check will be for about $64.

Family benefits will be increased also. For instance, the present maximum family benefit of $85 will be $150 under the new law. A widow with two children now receiving $55 monthly will get about $10 under the new law. Each of these increased payments to wives, parents, widows and dependent children must be figured individually. The amounts of these increases will depend largely on the amount of the insured retired worker's enlarged benefit. In no case will increased family benefit payments exceed eighty percent of his average monthly wage.

All of the increases I have mentioned apply to present beneficiaries. The new law makes it easier for workers to qualify for social security protection and become future beneficiaries under old-age and survivors insurance. In my next article I shall discuss this important phase of your new social security.

Mr. Wheeler competed with approximately 2500 other company salesmen and will join some 100 other winners and wives from all parts of the United States and Canada. They will stay at the famous Stevens Hotel during their visit.

They will also attend the Northwestern-Minneseota football game, theatre parties, the "Breakfast Club" and other network and radio stage shows, dine and dance in famous Chicago hotels and take a number of sight-seeing tours to points of interest in the city, including a day of golf and fun at the famous Tam O'Shanter Country Club.

Moscow May Cool 'Hot War' To Gain Breather in the West; Report Litvinov in Comeback

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

PARIS—(NEA)—A mounting industrial and economic crisis behind the Iron Curtain and new difficulties in the Western ranks of the Cominform may soon force Moscow to seek an "armistice" in the hot-cold war, satellite diplomats in France predict.

Having won an initial victory in Korea, the Russians, it is believed here, are now in a position to start a new diplomatic "peace" offensive in order to gain a breathing spell in the West.

According to persistent rumors in Paris satellite circles, Maxim Litvinov, ex-Soviet Foreign Minister and former Ambassador to Washington, has been recalled by the Politburo from his long semi-exile. He is reported as slated to be reappointed to an important post in the foreign ministry.

These rumors are believed to be deliberately circulated by Soviet embassies in Western Europe.

It is considered even possible that Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky may extend an olive branch to the powers now resisting Soviet aggression in Korea at the session of the United Nations General Assembly which opens in New York on September 19. Vishinsky is head of the Soviet delegation.

The reappearance of Litvinov on the Russian political arena would be interpreted in the West as tangible proof that Moscow sought a real understanding with the West.

Western diplomats tend to receive with a grain of salt Moscow's periodic peace gestures which are usually followed by new aggressive moves. But Litvinov—although there is no record that he ever questioned the "party line"—is widely regarded in the West as an exponent of a peace policy.

Litvinov is one of the few members of the Bolshevik "old guard" who weathered with a whole skin Stalin's periodic pudges of Lenin's former collaborators. One of the few surviving intimate collaborators of the "Father of Russian Bolshevism," he still enjoys a great deal of prestige in Russia.

Immediately prior to the conclusion of the Stalin-Hitler Pact in 1939 Litvinov was shelved by the Kremlin. His demise symbolized a new era of Soviet-Nazi friendship which ended with Hitler's attack on Russia in June, 1941.

Litinov was in eclipse for the next decade. But last August, during a debate in the UN Security Council, his definition of aggression was cited with approval by the Soviet representative Jacob A. Malik. Students of Stalin's methods believe that Litvinov is due to make a comeback.

MAXIM LITVINOV: A "peace cup" to gain a breathing spell?

While predicting a new Russian "peace" offensive, my satellite informants foresee no radical change in Stalin's long-range aggressive aims.

The determined resistance by the United States and United Nations in Korea coupled with new troubles behind the Iron Curtain and in the Cominform, they believe, has upset Moscow's political time-table.

The Russians are not yet ready for a global war. Despite President Truman's assertion, some diplomats from behind the Iron Curtain even question whether Russia has the atom bomb.

The consensus here is that it will take at least another two years before Moscow will be in a position to wage war. Meanwhile, to mend its fences, the Kremlin needs a breathing spell in Europe.

Truman Not Expected For The Election

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Sept. 21—(AP)—Thomas Hennings, Jr., Democratic nominee for U. S. senator, said today it is highly improbable that President Truman will come to Missouri for the election campaign.

In an interview here, Hennings said he personally did not think there was the slightest chance that the President could get away for a campaign speech in his home state.

"The Korean war situation just won't permit the President to leave Washington," the former St. Louis congressman said. "I understand the matter perfectly."

In the primary campaign President Truman had supported State Senator Emery Allison for the nomination.

Hennings added he had no rancor toward those who opposed him in that campaign. A struggle such as that, "a clean hard fought one," was good for the party, he added. As a result, he said, the Democrats are better prepared to meet the challenge in the fall campaign.

Mass Production of Plastic Cruisers May Revolutionize Small Boats

All Play and Little Work: That's the claim for this 24-foot plastic cruiser, which never has to be painted.

By NEA Service

NEW BERFORD, Mass.—(NEA)—Plastic cabin cruisers, 24 feet long, are being built in this one-time whaling city under new mass production methods which may revolutionize manufacture of small boats for civilian and military use.

Plastic boats are not new, although they are generally limited to rowboat or dinghy size. A few bigger boats—one as large as a 40-foot yacht—have been built on a custom-made basis.

CUT-OUT: Fiberglass sections for plastic cruiser's hull are sliced out like cloth.

With the new streamlined production methods just developed, however, 24-foot craft could be turned out one a day, as against the four to six weeks normally required to build a wooden or metal boat of similar specifications.

The new process utilizes a combination of Laminac, a polyester resin, and Fiberglas reinforcing mat. It results in a single seamless, leakproof hull and deck which never needs painting, caulking or other costly upkeep.

The boats will require only about one-fifth the maintenance work and expense necessary for comparable wooden or metal craft, according to Carl Beetle, president of the company which has been building boats for seven generations.

The hulls are formed in molds, and each cruiser has a molded-in-plastic gasoline tank, water tank, icebox and sink which defy rust and corrosion.

In durability tests, the boats have been exposed for long periods to alternate soaking and sunbaking, buried in sand, and allowed to stand moored in ice, all without ill effect. Should the hull become damaged by rocks or other objects, it can be repaired easily with plastic patches.

Cost is similar to wood or metal boats of similar design—between $4500 and $5000 for the 24-foot cruiser. But Beetle predicts a small boat revolution because the plastic model will put cruiser ownership within a cost-maintenance range of thousands of families to whom boat upkeep has previously been too costly.

NEWS
OF IMPORTANCE TO EVERY RED BLOODED AMERICAN

Read what the Federal Trade Commission, who controls advertising (the same government agency that worked a year investigating the Geo-Mineral Company and it's advertising) has to say about GEO-MINERAL. We quote from paragraph seven of a ten page printed report entitled: United States of American, Federal Trade Commission, Docket 5666, IN THE MATTER OF: GEO-MINERAL COMPANY

"Such symptoms or conditions as *HEADACHES, NERVOUSNESS and DIZZY SPELLS, LACK of VITALITY, ENERGY, AMBITION, SPARKLE in the EYES and BRILLIANCE of the MIND, POOR APPETITE, UNDERWEIGHT, WEAKENED SEXUAL POWERS and similar conditions *MAY BE DUE TO ANEMIA resulting from an inadequate intake of iron in the diet; these symptoms may also be due to any numerous other types of anemia and they may also be due to a wide variety of disease conditions which are in no wise related to anemia. In only an extremely small percentage of persons having the aforementioned symptoms are the symptoms the result of anemia due to a simple deficiency of iron in the diet, and it is only in this extremely small percentage of cases that Geo-Mineral will have any therapeutic value in the correction or relief of the aforementioned symptoms."

*Capitalizations are our own.

BUT WHY TAKE A CHANCE?

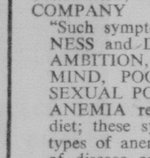

If you have any of these symptoms you may be one of that group suffering from dietary iron deficiency anemia. If you are, GEO-MINERAL will definitely help you. Naturally, GEO-MINERAL will not help everybody but it has helped thousands, who do have these symptoms, and we have received hundreds of unsolicited letters of praise and thanks from people in all walks of life—

Mrs. Madeleine Peck, 167 S. Main St., Waterbury Connecticut writes: "This is an unsolicited testimonial for GEO-MINERAL, as for some time I had been rundown, nervous and tired, until I noticed an advertisement for GEO-MINERAL and decided to give it a try. In a few days time, I felt like a different person. Since then, I have recommended it to several of my friends, who have also had fine results. GEO-MINERAL gave me more strength, made me very ambitious, relieved me of pain in my knuckles that I had suffered with for eight years."

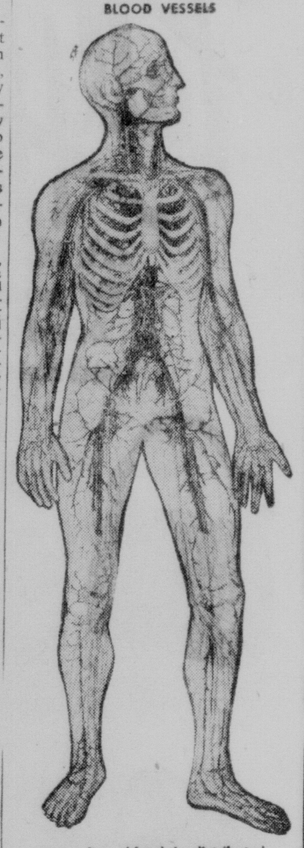

Mrs. Nora Hollins, 25 Willow St., Old Bridge, New Jersey says: "While in Atlantic City, I saw your ad in a Philadelphia paper. I tried everything to help me. I could not keep anything down. In the night it would all come up. I could not eat anything that would not come up on me, but thanks to GEO-MINERAL, I am feeling fine now. I still take a bottle every three weeks."

Sylvia LaCourse, 527 Center St., Huron, Ohio, writes: "Would it be possible to have a drug store here in Huron sell GEO-MINERAL? I've taken it for three months and I can't say enough for GEO-MINERAL. I feel like a new person."

"PREFERRED CUSTOMERS"

a message from MISSOURI PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY

Imagine operating your automobile under a system forcing you to use the nation's highways only when cars owned by the public agencies of federal government are not using them.

Imagine having to stop at every intersection to await grand passage of the federal vehicle.

Imagine having to sit by at your filling station while these federal vehicles exercise their prior rights to every drop of gasoline in the station's underground tanks.

Impossible, you say. But wait a minute.

Such a condition exists today in regard to the distribution of electric power produced at federal flood control dams.

Development and production of federal electric power is financed by all the people with tax dollars. There is a preference clause in the use of this power, however, that denies this energy to most of the taxpayers who pay for the projects.

For instance, the thousands of customers served by the Missouri Public Service Company, all good taxpayers, are denied a fair and equal share of electric power generated at government plants because of this preference clause.

In setting up their public power scheme the Department of the Interior decided public bodies and REA cooperatives would have prior rights to this power over the rest of Americans. These public bodies and REA cooperatives are termed "Preferred Customers" by the public power supporters.

Customers of private utilities are given access to public power only after the vote-rewarding demands of the "Preferred Customers" are satisfied.

Here's a situation where the tax money of the majority is used to finance a project to provide benefits to a strongly organized minority.

This situation discriminates against the tax-paying customers of the Missouri Public Service Company. For if we could secure equal rights with the REA cooperatives for federal power, today's low rates to our customers could be lowered even further providing a saving for electric power to all the people and not just the "Preferred Customers".

Believes Son In The Picture

Lieut. Reported As Missing 'In A Prison Camp'

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 21—(AP)—That faint spark of hope that glimmers on after a report of "missing in action" burst into a new flame here today.

Ten days ago the Army notified Paul Oechsle of Jefferson City that his son, Lt. Paul Oechsle, Jr., of the 25th Infantry Division had been missing in action on the Korean front since July 28.

But "missing in action" is not the final word.

Today a friend of young Oechsle, William Hassler, glanced at a picture of a group of American soldiers photographed in a North Korean prison camp. Carried by Associated Press Wirephoto, it was published in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat today.

One of the many upturned faces in the picture caused Hassler to look again—and then more closely.

He showed the photograph, dimmed somewhat by newspaper reproduction, to Paul's father.

"Yessiree, I believe that's Paul," Hassler quoted the elder Oechsle as saying.

Hassler agreed "that's my buddy."

Then Hassler tried frantically by telephone to get a copy of the original picture. And he showed the newspaper print to other friends of young Oechsle. They backed him up in the belief that Oechsle was still alive though a prisoner of the enemy.

The photograph was one taken by China Photo Service. It shows a group of Americans, reportedly prisoners of the North Koreans. A big print of the AP picture was being rushed here from St. Louis so Oechsle's friends could get a clearer view of the tall, light-haired lieutenant.

Oechsle, 24, served in the Navy during World War II and enlisted in the Army about a year ago.

Charge Leaving Accident Scene

Oscar A. Robertson, Dresden, was charged with leaving the scene of an accident in connection with one at Main street and Grand avenue, early this morning. Robertson was arrested by State Trooper Pete Stohr when he found Robertson in his car near Dresden off in a ditch.

He is to appear before Acting Magistrate John C. McCloskey this afternoon.

D. K. Kessner, Kansas City, Kansas, reported to the Sedalia police his truck while being loaded at Main street and Grand avenue, was struck by a car and the driver failed to stop. This occurred about 2:00 o'clock this morning, and was reported to the police at 2:45 o'clock.

Kessner, notified the police about 3:00 o'clock that while he was en route to Kansas City he noted a car off the road near Dresden and in turn the police notified Trooper Stohr, who made an investigation.

Picture Reveals Son a Prisoner

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 21.—(AP)—A photograph of American war prisoners in North Korea brought a Kansas City family last night the first news concerning a son since he was reported missing in action July 8.

The missing soldier is Pfc. William H. Stansbury, Jr., 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Stansbury. He was the first Kansas City soldier reported missing in the Korean war.

The picture was an Associated Press wirephoto, distributed by Eastfoto, a New York picture agency. Eastfoto said the picture came from the China Photo Service of Peiping, China.

"Oh, it's good," said Mrs. Stansbury. "It's a relief to know what happened to him."

Marshall Is Given The Oath

diate problems in reconstituting his defense family at home and in broadening and bolstering anti-Communist defenses abroad.

United Nations forces in Korea have eased the immediate pressure there by the offensive now under way. And the administration and Congress have provided the money and pave the way for U.S. military expansion on a global basis to support the policy of meeting aggression with force.

Marshall's first plunge into the international defense problem will come next Monday. The defense secretaries of the leading western nations have been called to New York to advise their foreign ministers on the defenses of Western Europe.

Within the Defense Department, Marshall's most pressing problem will be to find a successor to Deputy Secretary Stephen Early. Early's resignation becomes effective Sept. 30.

He also will have to consider replacing Assistant Defense Secretary Paul H. Griffith, a close associate of Johnson, who handed his resignation to Mr. Truman yesterday. The White House has not announced acceptance of the resignation, but is expected to do so.

Marshall will also have to find a successor for Hubert E. Howard, abruptly dropped as chairman of the Munitions Board on Monday.

they are making great progress.

Asked what U. S. policy will be on whether to go beyond the 38th parallel in Korea in cleaning up Korean Communists, the President said that is a question for the United Nations since the forces opposing the Korean Reds are a U. N. organization.

He added he will abide by the decision of the U. N.

He said the anti-Communist bill just passed by congress has not reached him yet, but he will not keep anyone in suspense very long about his position on it. A veto has been predicted.

Complications After Auto Accident Fatal

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Sept. 21.—(AP)—A coroner's jury yesterday found that Carol Tindall, 16, died of complications of injuries suffered in an auto accident, and blamed James O'Neill, 16, with "carelessness and negligence."

The girl died yesterday in a hospital after developing pneumonia. She was injured Sept. 16, when O'Neill's motorcycle, on which she and two companions were riding, collided with a car.

O'Neill was instructed to appear before juvenile authorities today.

Marines Hammering Toward The Heart of The Korean Capital

bridges across the Han.

Brines also relayed the 10th Corps intelligence report on the mysterious armored force speeding out of the Red China border city of Antung in Manchuria.

The report was relayed to General MacArthur just before he left for Tokyo. Brines returned with him. A MacArthur spokesman said the general was not called back by any emergency.

Pilots spotted the Red column 20 miles south of the Yalu river. Korean boundary 210 miles north of Seoul. It was reported Thursday morning to be possibly below the 38th parallel dividing North and South Korea. This would put the column less than 30 air miles from Seoul.

Allies Pick Up Steam

Elite divisions of North Koreans which invaded South Korea June 25 were seasoned in Communist China's Manchurian armies. They fought with Russian-made tanks and other arms. But with the Allied offensive in the south picking up steam, the Reds appear unable to muster much organized strength from that direction.

The column from the north—if it reaches Seoul intact—would pose the freshest threat.

Reds in the south were reported withdrawing, changing into civilian clothes and deserting or surrendering. And many others seemed on the verge of surrendering.

A major battle for Seoul's dusty and narrow streets might destroy a large part of the 500-year old capital. The city of 1,000,000 is a mass of closely packed one and two-story mud-covered wooden structures.

There are relatively few modern buildings strong enough for defense, and virtually no cellars. The wood in the weather-grayed houses is tinder-dry with age.

To cut off effective reinforcements for the city from the south, the U.S. Seventh Division drove for the last line of ridges overlooking the highway from Seoul to Suwon.

Over Dusty Roads

The Seventh Division's vehicles moved on dust-choked roads from the Inchon beachhead to points ten miles southwest of the city alongside rice paddies where peasants placidly gathered in the harvest.

AP Correspondent Relman Morin reported that the Marines who rammed across the Han eight miles northwest of Seoul found the narrow roads too slow for their tanks. They rumbled farther west to the railroad tracks leading into the city and then swung southward.

Morin, veteran reporter of European, African and Asian campaigns, said the drive on the capital from the northwest was a big push "like the big ones near the end of the last war."

Reds captured on the Han's north bank, Morin added, reported they had been pressed into battle only five days previously. This was shortly after the United Nations started landing a 40,000-man liberation force at Inchon last Friday.

Morin said some 200 prisoners had been rounded up around Seoul by late Thursday. Some were boys of 14 and 15. They had been ordered to hold the line at all costs, they said.

Allied bomber and fighters kept an umbrella over the Marines and infantrymen on the Seoul front, and flew close ground support missions in the south. A record 702 sorties were flown Wednesday.

On the old United Nations beachhead in the southeast, the main actions were in the Waegwan sector, 140 miles southeast of Seoul.

U.S. First Cavalry Division troopers and South Koreans forged a trap on 5,000 Reds of the Third and 13th Divisions northeast of Waegwan, and the U.S. 24th Division drove three miles northwest of the town.

Taft Forecasts A GOP Victory

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 21—(AP)—U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) declared last night that the Democrats themselves have assured an "overwhelming Republican victory" in the November congressional elections.

He told a wildly-applauding crowd of delegates to the GOP state convention here that the Democrats fear his re-election in Ohio "means the destruction of their power in the nation and the beginning of the end of New Deal rule."

"There are many issues before the people of Ohio and the nation," he asserted, "but the principal issue is whether we desire a rubber stamp Congress, tamely accepting the dictates of the unholy alliance between John L. Lewis, the Political Action Committee and Harry S. Truman, or whether we want an independent Congress, representing the people of the United States.

"Our opponents themselves have assured the election of such a Republican Congress."

Meanwhile, in Cincinnati, Walter Reuther, president of the CIO Automobile Workers, called Taft the "spiritual leader . . . of reactionary forces in this country."

The CIO and PAC are supporting Taft's Democratic opponent, state auditor Joseph T. Ferguson.

Train Hits an Explosives Truck

SOUTH POINT, Ohio, Sept. 21—(AP)—An Arkansas truck driver whose explosive-laden truck was hit by a speeding passenger train was a candidate for "the luckiest man" in this area today.

Most of the villagers thought they were pretty lucky, too.

South Point is on the Ohio river at the extreme southern point of the state. It has a population of about 1,000.

Richard Haney of Blytheville, Ark., was en route to the Portsmouth, Va., navy yard yesterday with a truck loaded with lead cylinders filled with gun powder.

At the grade crossing the truck was hit by the Norfolk and Western passenger train Powhatan Arrow.

The cylinders were strewn over the crossing. Observers said there were two minor explosions, but no fire. No one was injured.

Haney, driver for the Baggett Transport Co. of Birmingham, Ala., had waited at the crossing for a freight train to pass. As it cleared the crossing, Haney started across the double tracks. The Powhatan Arrow, hidden by the freight train, crashed into the front of the truck.

Warns Vishinsky Against Speeding

GLEN COVE, N. Y., Sept. 21—(AP)—Soviet foreign minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky has been warned by a traffic cop that the next time he speeds through Glen Cove he'll get a ticket.

Speeding away from the palatial estate the Russian United Nations delegation occupies here, Vishinsky's car was stopped yesterday by motorcycle patrolman Timothy O'Neill.

Mildly, O'Neill explained to Vishinsky and his chauffeur that 55 miles an hour was too fast for the congested highway. Then the cop added:

"This is just a fair warning. Next time we will have to give you a summons."

Vishinsky smiled politely. His car pulled away — gently.

Former Secretary Stimson Is 83 Today

HUNTINGTON, N.Y., Sept. 21—(AP)—Former Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson observed his 83rd birthday today, still recovering from a thigh fracture he suffered in a fall last July. Stimson, who served in the cabinets of six presidents, planned to celebrate the day quietly with his family.

Proposes Fight Up to Parallel

By Alex Singleton

BELGRADE, Sept. 21—(AP)—An American congressional delegation quoted Premier Marshal Tito today as saying the United States should fight to the 38th parallel in Korea, then stop and call for a country-wide plebiscite.

The 38th parallel was the boundary which separated western-recognized South Korea from Communist North Korea.

Sen. Pepper (D-Fla) said the question was raised during a three-hour chat with Tito last night at his private villa on the hills overlooking Belgrade. He said the Yugoslav head man gave the congressmen "frank and forthright answers" on many questions.

Pepper and other members of the delegation said Tito, while sticking to an independent stand for Yugoslavia in the Korean conflict, expressed approval of the United States action — and that of the United Nations — in taking an immediate stand against any effort to disturb world peace.

He also was quoted as saying the "entire religious situation" in Yugoslavia is now under review.

The statement came in an interview from Sen. Pepper (D-Fla) who along with Sen. Brewster (R-Me), Rep. Cooley (D-NC) and Rep. Poague (D-Texas) left by plane today for Trieste after a two-day stay here, which included a three-hour chat with Tito.

With characteristic American bluntness, the group raised almost every problem involved in United States-Yugoslav relations, among them some so delicate they have been avoided in diplomatic discussions.

Kills Mother of Divorced Wife

NEW MADRID, Mo., Sept. 21—(AP)—James Forsythe, 27, tried to call on his divorced wife at a cotton plantation near Malden last night and wound up in a shooting in which her mother was fatally wounded.

Mrs. Charles S. Smith, 56, wife of a planter who has two sections of land in cotton, died in a Poplar Bluff hospital about an hour later. Capt. O. L. Wallis of the highway patrol said Forsythe drove to Kennet and gave up to police, admitting the shooting.

Juanita, 22-year old daughter of the Smiths, divorced Forsythe in June after a marriage of about five months. "He had been giving me trouble ever since," she told a reporter last night.

As she told it, Forsythe drove up to the Smith home, five miles southeast of Malden, about 6 p. m., and when she refused to come out he kicked the front door in. Then she and her mother appeared, and the shooting occurred as the mother stepped between her daughter and Forsythe. Mrs. Smith was struck by two bullets from a .22 caliber pistol, in the hip and ankle, and died from loss of blood.

Wallis said Forsythe drove straight to Kennett, ordered a meal and asked the restaurant owner to call police. Night Policeman Ernest Kirkman appeared, and Forsythe asked, "Can I finish my supper?" Kirkman let him finish, even to a second cup of coffee he requested, and then took him to jail.

Later Forsythe was brought to the county jail here. The shooting occurred just inside the New Madrid county line.

Barkley to Make Wide Speaking Tour

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21—(AP)—Vice President Barkley will make a flying campaign tour of 15 states for about 30 speeches in October and November, the Democratic national committee announced.

Chairman William M. Boyle, Jr., named Barkley as the administration No. 1 orator for the November vote drive and gave out a partial itinerary after telling the White House newsmen that as matters stand now President Truman plans no stumping trip.

Barkley will start his tour with a speech in Wisconsin October 5.

With final details yet to be worked out, the schedule then calls for speeches in the following states on the dates indicated:

To Visit Missouri Oct. 7

Iowa, Oct. 6; Missouri, Oct. 7; California, Oct. 9 and 10; Washington State, Oct. 11 and 12; Idaho, Oct. 13; Utah, Oct. 14; Colorado, Oct. 17.

New World Crisis May Speed Plans to Link U. S.-Alaska With a 1000-Mile Railroad

By NEA Service

VANCOUVER, British Columbia —(NEA)—The Korean war and the U. S. determination to hem in any Soviet expansion may mean a railroad to Alaska.

Even before the war, such a plan had passed the dream stage. Last October, President Truman signed legislation authorizing negotiations with the Canadian government for location of a railroad route across Canada to Alaska.

Specifically, the bill calls for a survey for a railroad from Prince George, British Columbia, to Fairbanks, where it would connect with the Alaskan Railroad.

What would be the cost? Nobody has made a recent estimate. However, in 1942, when the Japs were crouched on some of the Aleutian islands, the American Army Engineers made a quick survey and placed the cost at $200,000,000.

Military supplies now go by steamer, by plane or via the Alcan highway, a relic of the last war. A railroad would be the most direct and could carry the largest cargoes the fastest.

British Columbians are certain that their Pacific Great Eastern, one of the most fabulous railroads on the North American continent, would be an important link in Uncle Sam's rail route to Fairbanks. At the present, the P.G.E., government-owned, is a railroad that begins nowhere and ends nowhere.

For 38 years, this 347-mile railroad has rambled through the rugged and little-developed lands of south central British Columbia. But it did not connect with the outside world.

To reach its southern terminus at Squamish from Vancouver, for example, you have to take a three-and-a-half-hour steamer ride up Howe Sound. The northern terminus at Quesnel is 83 miles short of connecting with the Canadian National Railroad at Prince George.

The British Columbian government is changing that now. Under way for more than a year is a $13,000,000 P.G.E. extension program. It means connecting Quesnel and Prince George by rail. A fast 38-mile bus and truck highway will close the gap between Vancouver and Squamish.

A rail extension from Prince George north and to the west to Fairbanks would mean more than 1000 miles of new track. But engineers say it wouldn't encounter too many geographical difficulties. The road would follow what is known as the Rocky Mountain "trench," a valley-like stretch of land on the west side of the Rockies. The weather's mild, too, to allow all-year passage.

'Pinky' Reverses Adage About a Purple Cow

"Pinky" and Farmer Poormen: Sunburn makes her pinker.

By Ruth Chin
NEA Special Correspondent

GASTON, Ind.—(NEA) — If you'd rather see a purple cow, as the saying goes, than be one, look in on Fred Pooremen's farm near Gaston.

He has one that isn't exactly purple, but it may be as close as you'll ever get. The cow is pink, except when she gets sunburned, when she's pinker.

"Pinky" is a 14-month-old Jersey-Guernsey, born without hair and still bald as a kernel of Indiana corn. Farmer Poormen thought he had a very sick calf on his hands when "Pinky" was born, but veterinarians assured him her only ailment is that she's a "freak of nature" they've never seen before.

It's her baldness, rather than her color, that makes "Pinky" a problem cow.

Last winter she slept under blankets, and when she went out she wore a couple of pairs of Poormen's old blue jeans to keep her feet warm.

When summer came it turned out she sunburned easily. Right now "Pinky" has a little tan, but it's peeling. Mostly, she's kept inside the barn until sunset, except on cloudy days when she can go out and graze.

A lot of neighboring farmers who have seen "Pinky" want Poormen to have her bred to see if she'd have pink and hairless calves.

But Poormen thinks one pink cow is enough around his farm. He's getting tired of explaining to curious visitors that "Pinky" is sensitive about having people touch her hide to see how smooth it is.

"Pinky", it turns out, would rather be a purple cow, or at least a pink one, than see people.

Mr. Virgil Spiegel, 3032 Colerian Ave., Cincinnati, Ohio, a driver for Alber's Supermarkets, is confident that today he is doing the best job he has ever done in his life. That is because he says he has never felt better. To be first rate on the job, a man has to be in top notch condition. He attributes his feeling of well being to HADACOL because his system lacked those necessary Vitamins B-1, B-2, Iron and Niacin.

Here is Mr. Spiegel's own statement: "Before I started taking HADACOL I was told I had a nervous stomach. I took many pills and many other 'remedies'—nothing gave me effective relief. It affected my sleep, too—I would doze off and then wake up at the least little thing. I had a lot of gas on my stomach and it burned clear up in my chest. I was just beside myself in knowing just what to do. I heard how other folks having the same trouble I did were being helped by HADACOL. I started taking HADACOL and after the 2nd bottle of HADACOL I noticed an improvement. Now I am in first rate shape. I sleep well, have no more gas pains and the best thing is that my nervous stomach has completely cleared up. I can't thank HADACOL enough."

It Isn't Too Late

to try HADACOL as thousands of other folks suffering from such deficiencies have done and benefitted tremendously from HADACOL. Why, there are even hundreds of doctors who are now recommending HADACOL to their patients whose systems lack Vitamins B-1, B-2, Iron, and Niacin. If you suffer from stomach distress, nervousness, insomnia, constipation, heartburns, or a general run-down condition, caused by such deficiencies, give HADACOL a chance to help you. Remember, you have nothing to lose. HADACOL will make you feel great after the first few bottles you take, or your money will be refunded. Only $1.25 for Trial Size; Large Family or Hospital Size, $3.50.

Ford's Win Holds Top For Yanks

Detroit Keeps Pace, But Boston Drops Two To Cleveland

NEW YORK, Sept. 21 — (AP) — Three-hit pitching by Eddie Ford, sensational rookie lefthander, enabled the New York Yankees to hold their slender half-game lead in the tough American league pennant race.

Ford pitched the Yanks to a 8-1 victory over the White Sox in Chicago for his eighth victory without a loss.

The Detroit Tigers gained undisputed possession of second place by edging the Philadelphia Athletics, 6-5, while the Boston Red Sox tumbled to third place. The Red Sox lost a doubleheader to the Indians in Cleveland, 6-3, and 7-1.

	W	L	Pct.	G. B.	G. L.
New York	91	53	.632	—	10
Detroit	90	53	.627	½	11
Boston	89	55	.618	2	10

The Tigers came from behind to clip the A's. The Mackmen piled up a 5-1 lead in five innings at the expense of Dizzy Trout, but the Tigers clawed back with three in the sixth and won out with two in the eighth. Two hits, a wild pitch and error accounted for the Tigers' payoff runs.

Bob Lemon and Early Wynn foiled the Red Sox. Lemon limited the Sox to seven hits in posting his 21st victory in the first game. Wynn permitted only five safeties in gaining his 17th victory in the nightcap.

In the National league the Philadelphia Phils moved a step closer toward clinching their first pennant since 1915 by dumping the Chicago Cubs, 9-6.

Stout hitting by Mike Goliat and another fine relief job by Jim Konstanty turned the tide. Goliat socked two homers with his second arriving with two on in the eighth inning to win the game. Konstanty made his 68th appearance of the season and held the Cubs to two hits over the final 3 2-3 innings to earn his 16th victory.

The Brooklyn Dodgers trounced the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-2, behind the five-hit pitching of Carl Erskine.

Cincinnati turned back the New York Giants twice, 4-1, and 2-0. Ewell Blackwell gained his 16th victory in the first game. Blackie allowed four hits and helped win his own game with a single during a three run ninth inning rally.

Association to Open Playoff

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 21—(AP)—The Columbus Redbirds and Indianapolis Indians open the American Association championship playoff here tonight — the weather permitting.

A steady downpour rained out the opener last night and gave the Redbirds a day of rest between the series. They had been scheduled to go directly into the finals after winding up with pennant-winning Minneapolis Tuesday night.

The Indians, who finished off St. Paul in four straight last week have been taking it easy this week and playing intra squad games to keep in shape. Columbus had to go six games to survive the first round playoffs.

An extra day of rest may mean Kurt Krieger will pitch for Columbus tonight. Glen Moulder had been nominated for last night. Lefthander Joe Muir has the nod for the Indians.

They'll play two games here, then move to Columbus for three, unless one team wins 4 straight. If they need sixth and seventh games they'll come back here.

The teams' records are about even. Each beat the other 11 times during the season and each won seven at home. The Indians finished in second place, one and one-half games ahead of Columbus.

The winner will meet the International league winner in the "Little World Series."

Brown Safe as Chic o Drops Ball

Chicago White Sox shortstop Chico Carrasquel "makes" a forced play on sliding New York Yankees third baseman Bobby Brown in the sixth inning of their game at Chicago. Umpire Bill McKinley, however, ruled Brown safe as Carrasquel dropped the ball when he threw to first trying to double Cliff Mapes. As a result, neither runner was out and the White Sox made a lengthy protest to the umpire. The throw came from second baseman Nelson Fox. The Yanks won, 8 to 1. (AP Wirephoto)

Rugged Drill by S-C For Kemper

The Smith-Cotton Tigers have had rugged practice sessions the last three days in preparation for their game with Kemper Military Academy here this Friday night. The summer heat hasn't slowed the Bengals in the least, but it has helped the boys get into condition.

Coach Ralph "Stub" Dow said he planned to use the same starters against Kemper who opened against Marshall.

The Kemper game will be the first of the season for both clubs in the C. E. M. O. conference. The Tigers, champions for the past two years, are determined to make it three straight, but Dow is pessimistic concerning a Tiger victory unless his charges improve the play displayed in their win over Marshall.

Friday night's game will be the season opener for the Kemper. News releases say their line averages around 180 pounds. The S-C line tips the scale at 165, so they will give away around 15 pounds per man. Kemper has four starters from last year's squad, which the Bengals trounced 27-0.

The workout during the week have consisted of blocking and hard scrimmage sessions in which the Tigers ran off the T formation.

Sportsmen Dog Show at Tipton

The Farmers & Sportsmen Club of Tipton held its first annual Fall Show at the J. L. Thomas park in South Tipton Saturday night, Sunday afternoon and night.

Showing of dogs prevailed but there were plenty of other contests, amusements and concessions.

Grand Champion Dog

Jill, a five-year-old pointer owned by Mike Billingsley and shown by Marvin Carey, was the grand champion of the show. Jill's offspring, Jack, four month's of age, came in for a share of the honors and Mr. Billingsley's daughter Kay had four of the pups in the show ring.

The father of the dogs is Duke, a pointer owned by Roscoe Gibson.

Dan Schneider, president of the Cole County Conservation Federation of Missouri, made an address on the opening night and Sunday night the speaker was Jay Morrow, assistant director of the Conservation Commission of Missouri. Both Mr. Schneider and Mr. Morrow are from Jefferson City.

The speakers were introduced by Maynard White.

Over an amplifier system furnished through the courtesy of Al Martin, all events were broadcast over the grounds.

Four expert skeet shooters representing the Boonville Rod & Gun club, put on an interesting shooting exhibition under the direction of Charles Callison, executive secretary of the Missouri Conservation Federation.

Besides affording an excellent place for the display of hunting dogs the event was a financial success.

Less Allison is president of the Tipton group, with Claud Howard, secretary-treasurer. Members of the board of directors are Quincy Cox, Frank Lang, Charles Johnson, Roscoe Gibson, Herman Lutz and Prunes Schmidt.

John Duval of California was judge Saturday night and Sunday's judge was Bill Arbieter of Kansas City, an official judge of the American Kennel club.

It was a splendid show throughout and those in charge, who had full co-operation from all, are to be congratulated.

Premiums were awarded as follows:

Elbows Out in Offensive Blocking, But There's No Stopping Hoople

By Major Amos B. Hoople
Father of Elbow-Saving

Egad! Zillions of gentle readers, here is your favorite correspondent back again, in the pink for another season of successful football forecasting — har-rumph!

What more appropriate way of teeing off, as we say in cricket, than a discussion of the rules changes for the year?

The fair catch is abolished. This will add zest to the contest.

The number of time-outs has been increased from four to five each half, for each team, without penalty. Give the palpitating protagonists of the pigskin a bit more leisure—hak-kaff!

Use of elbows is curbed in offensive blocking. If you've ever been caught inadvertently at a bargain sale, you know what we mean—haw! The blocker's hand must be in contact with his body. In no block may the hands be locked. If you'll pardon a bit of a pun, locking the hands seems to be the key to the situation.

Well, well! Now, to get on with our prognostications, don't expect any startling upsets this week, fans.

It would not astound this writer to find that results turn out exactly as herewith chronicled.

You'll get the upsets later, and who but Hoople will lead the field in telling you all about them in advance?

Here are the winners and approximate scores:

Boost is Given To The Phillies

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21—(AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies' injury-ridden pitching staff got a boost yesterday with news that Emory (Bubba) Church had been released from Jefferson hospital.

The rookie righthander was struck below the left eye last Friday by a liner off the bat of Ted Kluszewski, Cincinnati first baseman. Four stitches and some plastic surgery were required to repair the damage.

Church sat in the press box as the Phils downed the Chicago Cubs 9-6 and then donned his uniform for a post-game workout.

Manager Eddie Sawyer said the 25-year-old hurler may be able to pitch two more games before the close of the National League season Oct. 1. Thus far, Church has a record of eight wins and four losses.

Another Phil rookie, Bob Miller, is out with a pulled shoulder muscle. In addition, the first place Whiz Kids have been getting along without the services of their ace lefthander, Curt Simmons, recently inducted into federal service with his National Guard outfit.

Rag Mop is an Artist's Brush

Paints by Day, Scrubs at Night to Outwit Starving Artis Tradition

ART IN DAYTIME for Bertha Splittberger is done at her easel in the alcove of her tiny quarters in a bomb-damaged building.

ART AFTER DARK for Fraulein Splittberger is an occasional fish she paints on floor with a mop during scrubbing duties.

Pictures and Text
By JOE SCHUPPE
NEA Staff Correspondent

BERLIN —(AP)— Bertha Splittberger paints with a mop by night so she can live to paint with a brush by day.

A 42-year-old former window decorator, Fraulein Splittberger refused to get as discouraged as a lot of others in Berlin's art colony because Berliners are too busy rebuilding homes to collect art.

She found a job cleaning offices and scrubbing floors at night. It gives her the luxury of having her days free to paint—and it also pays her 35 West Marks a week, just enough to finance rent, food, canvas and paints.

Having outwitted the "poor starving artist" tradition, she works at her easel from mid-morning until it's time to pick up her scrub pail again in the evening. Occasionally she paints Berlin's ruins, but just for "exercise;" tropical fish and colorful animals take up most of her painting time.

"Why should Berliners want to be reminded of the ruins within their family walls?" she asks.

From time to time, Fraulein Splittberger puts on a "one woman" show at an open air exhibition on Berlin's streets. Critics have shown a lot of interest in her work. And sometimes people even buy one of her oils or pastels.

But even when she's scrubbing to mark time until more people buy, she doesn't stop painting. At night, other scrub women are her gallery when she pauses to sketch a fish with her mop on the floor she's cleaning.

That's No Cop; It's a Traffic Pop

POP STOPS 'EM: M. J. Vosse, Jr., founder of the Traffic Pops, sees a group of school-bound youngsters safely across a busy highway in Memphis, Tenn. He put other fathers to work, too.

By RICHARD WALLACE

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — (NEA) — Did you ever hear of a Traffic Pop? Not cop, but Pop, as in father.

The world's founder of the Traffic Pops is M. J. Vosse, Jr., an advertising man, who operates with whistle and Safety Council STOP flag at a busy street near Sherwood School in Memphis.

Vosse is the father of two children—Jack, who will be 10 this month and is entering the fifth grade, and Nadine, 6, who is in the first grade. Sherwood is a new school, which opened for the first time this year, and to reach it the little Vosses must cross busy Park avenue at an hour when traffic is heavy.

"I got pretty worried about it," Vosse said. "I'm a grown man and I don't like to cross Park. The new school has children through the sixth grade only and I didn't think any of them were old enough to be junior safety patrolmen on a street like that.

"I telephoned Capt. Robert Glisson, the school safety man, and told him that I was a worried father but that I had an idea and would like to talk to him about it.

"I told him that I, as one father, would volunteer to be a safety patrolman and that I thought that we could find some other fathers whose children go to the same school to do the same thing."

Capt. Glisson, who had been just as worried as Vosse, was delighted with the prospects of help. He gave Vosse the whistle and flag and appointed him a safety patrolman. Vosse, who is handy with a slogan, thought up the Traffic Pop name.

Other fathers volunteered. They spread out the assignments so that no one father has to be on the job more than one day a week, and have an AM and PM shift of Traffic Pops.

The Traffic Pops like the work. They have found most motorists polite. And they like such remarks as that of the mother who was taking a couple of youngsters to school opening morning and found Vosse on the corner.

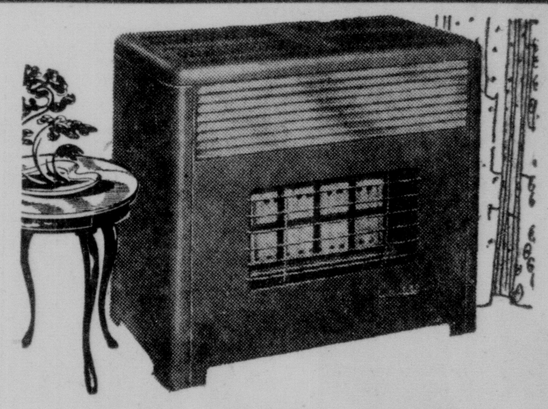

"This is a load off my mind," she said. "I'm glad to see you here."

Facts About Your Missouri Division of Employment Security

Employers Help Police Benefits Paid to Jobless

Editor's Note: This is one of a series of articles dealing with the functions and services of the Missouri Division of Employment Security. This information is being provided the public through the cooperation of the Missouri Press Association.

Missouri's employers who are liable under the state's unemployment compensation law not only carry the responsibility for financing the entire employment security program, but they also are called upon to help the state police the payment of benefits to unemployed workers.

Cooperating employers, usually those with eight or more workers, assist the division in stopping the payment of questionable claims for unemployment insurance, and industry through quarterly wage reports aid in the detection and discovery of fraud practices perpetrated by "chiselers."

This employer cooperation also extends to state employment services when they place their orders for workers with the job-finding agency.

Payments to workers do not begin until the division has made a check on the claimant's eligibility for unemployment insurance. This checkup tells the division where the worker has earned the wage credits which might make him eligible for benefits.

Employer Gets Claims Notice

Benefits are withheld until every employer, whose account might be charged with unemployment insurance payments, has been notified that the worker's claim has been filed and that it may apply against his reserve account.

If the employer receiving such notice believes that the individual claiming benefits should be held ineligible he files a protest with the division within seven days after the date of the claims notification.

If an employer protests, the matter is investigated by the division. An agent makes a specific determination covering the protest and the employer is notified as to the findings. A notice of the determination also is mailed to him. The employer, if he chooses not to accept the determination, has the privilege of appealing. If he does this a hearing is held.

Common Protest Reasons

Most common reasons given by employers who file protests have been found to be:

1.—Where the employer believes the claimant is not able or available for work, or is not actively seeking reemployment.

2.—Where the claimant is alleged to have quit his job voluntarily without good cause attributable to his employment.

3.—Where the worker has been discharged for misconduct in connection with his work.

4.—Where the worker fails to accept suitable employment without good cause.

5.—Where the claimant is unemployed because of a stoppage of work which exists in the employer's plant due to a labor dispute.

When an appeal is taken—either by a claimant or an employer—a date for hearing is set. The hearing is conducted in an informal manner before a referee who is a member of the division's staff. The employer may appear in person, or he may be represented by agent or attorney, and he also may be assisted by any designated individual.

After a written decision has been made by the referee, should the decision not meet with the approval of either the claimant or employer, there is a right of further appeal to the Missouri Industrial Commission, and there still is the additional privilege of appealing to the state courts.

When appeals matters are reviewed by the courts, the findings of fact of the commission, if supported by competent and substantial evidence, will not be disturbed by the court. It will confine its review to questions of law involved in the case.

It, therefore, behooves the employer or claimant to carefully present all relevant facts for consideration by the division's referee, because if the evidence is not submitted in the original hearing, it cannot later be introduced before a court.

"Employment" is a complex term which is defined in detail in the Unemployment Compensation Law. In general any service performed by any worker for wages is employment.

Exemptions Are Listed

However, there are exceptions which exclude from "employment" specified classes of workers. Workers in "employment" are the only ones counted for the purpose of determining liability or the amount of taxes dues from the employer. The term "employment" under the law does not include agricultural labor, servants in the home, service by certain close relatives, service performed strictly for a religious, charitable, scientific, literary, or educational organization, and various other less general types of service set out in the law.

Where anyone has doubt as to the "employment" status of any of his workers it is advisable to present the matter to the division for a review and a specific ruling. This can be done by writing the central office of the division, Box 59, Jefferson City, or through any of its 34 local offices.

There are many technical provisions in the law under which certain types of business become liable. It is chiefly for this reason that the division urges all employers to make inquiry as to their liability status and especially is this true where an individual purchases a business.

Check Taxes When Buying

There are instances where the division has found a firm liable for as much as $6,000 in back taxes and penalties. In this case the amount was due from a former owner of the business, but the new owner inherited the headache.

If you acquire the business of a liable employer, you become an employer immediately and are subject to the wage tax for unemployment compensation purposes.

If an individual buys a business that has had certain weeks in the year during which as many as eight persons were employed, and the purchaser has had enough additional weeks in that year during which he employed a minimum of eight persons, so that the combined total amounted to 20 or more weeks, the purchaser would then become liable for the wage tax.

If an individual owns or holds controlling interest in two or more businesses and one of them alone does not have the required employment experience, but all collectively do have it, then each falls in the wage-tax liability class.

If anyone is subject to the Federal Unemployment Tax Act covering employers of eight or more workers in all states combined, then he automatically becomes an employer in Missouri.

5000-hp Turbo-Prop Engine Unveiled by Navy So Powerful It Can Fly a 'Fortress' Unaided

By NEA Service

PATUXENT RIVER, Md.—(NEA)—A strange-looking B-17 lumbered down the long runways of the Navy's Patuxent River Air Base.

Designated the Boeing-299Z, the erstwhile Flying Fortress roared into the air on its four conventional engines—plus a fifth one in the nose where bombardiers sat during World War II.

A few minutes later the Fortress roared back across the field. The propellers of the four wing engines were feathered. It was flying on the single engine in its nose—an engine that develops more horsepower than the other four put together.

It was no stunt flight. The Navy and Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Corp. were showing off an engine that was started in June, 1945, and an idea the Navy has been keeping alive since jet power plants threatened to put the propeller out of business.

The engine in the nose of 299Z is a combination of both. Called a turbo-prop, it develops somewhere between 5000 and 6000 horsepower and is designated the Turbo Wasp T-34 (by coincidence, the same designation as the Russian tank harassing UN forces in Korea).

It was not the first time the converted B-17 had flown with a turbo-prop. It is a flying laboratory for such engines, which it is hoped will keep pace with jet-propelled aircraft in aviation jobs where jets alone show too many disadvantages.

The Korean war, for instance, proved jets were impractical for ground support missions; they cannot slow down enough to make effective runs at small targets, such as personnel and vehicles, close to our own lines.

The Turbo Wasp T-34, second turbo-prop sponsored by the Navy since World War II, is thus far the most powerful such engine revealed since World War II, is thus far the most powerful such engine revealed by the U.S. or Great Britain. It uses stainless steel almost exclusively, weighs 2250 pounds, and can operate on either kerosene-type jet fuel or high octane gas with a fuel consumption that compares favorably with conventional piston engines operating at high power.

Its operation is simplified; a single handle controls the engine and propeller, automatically setting the power, prop speed and fuel mixture for any given operation.

Great Britain already has two military planes — both Navy — powered by turbo-prop engines. The Fairy 17 is designed for anti-submarine duty with 3670-horsepower engine; the Wyvern 2, a strike fighter, has a 2540-horsepower engine and was the first front-line service plane with a turbo-prop.

The Navy has not indicated its plans for the Turbo Wasp T-34, although it is interested in such engines for heavy carrier planes. An earlier development, the Allison XT-38, was destined for the big new Convair XP5Y-1 flying boat, which would mount eight of the units in pairs to equal four engines of about 5000-horsepower each.

No Cause For Alarm

VANCOUVER, —(AP)— Pedestrians looking at a large outdoor thermometer here were startled to see the indicator sweep from 120 degrees down to zero and back again in a few seconds. Officials said it wasn't the weather, just a jammed switch.

White Hair Now Brown But No One Knows How

By Eldon Roark
NEA Special Correspondent

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — If Rev. L. A. Streete of Memphis knew the secret of what happened on top of his head he probably could make a million dollars.

Rev. Streete was 78 on July 23. He used to have thick, snow-white hair. His hair is still thick, but now it is a dark brown. It is just like it was when he was a young man.

And he hasn't done a thing to make it that way.

Back in 1943 Rev. Streete had a spell of sickness and nearly all of his hair came out. In a few months, though, new hair started growing, "a full shock of it," and it was white.

About two years later his hair started turning a dark brown. And now it has completed the change.

Rev. Streete hasn't talked to any scientists about it, but he has talked to barbers. They say they have never heard of suc ha development.

Brown hair on Rev. L. A. Streete was once white. If he only knew the secret.

He is a retired Presbyterian minister. For 50 years he pastored churches in the mid-South. Now he serves as supply pastor and preaches at a different place nearly every Sunday. When he goes back to a church he hasn't visited in years, some members of the congregation may get the idea that he is dyeing his hair or is wearing a wig.

But it's all his—and it's natural.

Antimacassars derived their name from the protection they gave chairs from macarrar oil, formerly used as a hair dressing.

In some of the early experiments of transmission of photographs over electrical circuits as many as 25 lines were used simultaneously.

Egypt Gets Fast Trains

CAIRO — (AP) — Modern, high-speed trains soon will run on the Egyptian railways network. The Egyptian government has ordered ten trains from England.

With a speed of 100 miles per hour, they will reduce the present three-hour trip between Cairo and Alexandria, the summer capital, to a little more than one hour.

Five trains already are enroute to Egypt.

New York City's annual bank clearings are nearly 50 per cent greater than the combined total of the next 15 U.S. cities.

Nehru Asks Party Action

NEW DELHI —(AP)— The Congress Party needs a shot in the arm, according to Prime Minister Nehru. He told a group of congressmen here that since independence had been achieved, the party had become weak and lthargic and lost much of the appeal that once swayed millions of Indians. The party, he said, must be strengthened to wage war for new objectives—eradication of poverty, ignorance and disease.

The Congress Party, under the leadership of Mohandas Gandhi, won India's independence in 1947. It now runs the government and dominates parliament.

Executives Working for Government Draw Salaries From Private Industry

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON. — Congressional memories sometimes are very short. It was only last year that the Senate refused to confirm Carl Ilgenfritz as chairman of the Munitions Board because he declined to give up his $60,000 salary from the U.S. Steel Corporation.

However, just about the same thing is now happening with two other high officials and nothing is being said about it. They are:

1. E. G. Plowman, another U.S. Steel executive, who gets $66,000 a year from his company while working for Uncle Sam as director of the Defense Department's military traffic service.

2. William H. Harrison, who has just assumed charge of war controls in the Commerce Department while still drawing his salary from International Telephone and Telegraph.

The excuse given for permitting men to draw a salary from private industry while working for the government is that it is hard to get good men to serve the government without doing so. This is true in peacetime. But in wartime, when thousands of G.I.'s not only have to give up their jobs but their lives, it would seem that enough patriotic businessmen would be willing to work for a government stipend of $15,000 to $20,000 a year.

Jimmy Roosevelt

Jimmy Roosevelt helped to place the insurance on two housing projects at an Air Force field at Victorville, Calif.

Air Force officials state, however, that they had nothing to do with placing the insurance, and that the matter was left entirely in the hands of the private promoters.

There are two housing projects at the Victorville air base: 400 homes built by the Victor Valley Housing Corp., and 250 homes built by Mesa Estates.

C. O. Moore is the owner of Mesa Estates and also owns 40 per cent of the Victor Valley project. He, being a close friend of Roosevelt's, placed the insurance with the firm of Roosevelt and Sergeant, which in turn acted as the broker in placing the insurance on all 650 homes with various companies.

Johnson's Exit

Secretary of Defense Johnson took the news of his dismissal as if he had been struck by lightning. On the morning he was fired, he was cheerfully planning speeches for the American Bar Association, American Federation of Labor and American Legion.

On the morning after he was fired, he put in a routine appearance at his staff conference. General McNarney opened the meeting by saying how shocked they all were at the new devlopment.

But Johnson held up his hand and mumbled: "No, no. Not now." Tears welled up in his eyes, and McNarney sat down.

Assistant Secretary of Defense McNeil also tried to say something appropriate. But again Johnson held up his hand. So everyone present stood up, announced there was nothing to report, and solemnly filed out of the room.

Under the Dome

After Secretary Chapman finished wiping up the Senate floor with Senator Schoeppel of Kansas, the Interior secretary attended a cabinet meeting. As he entered the room, President Truman said: "Here comes Joe Louis. Sit down, champ." . . . Republican leaders had planned to pick out every member of the Truman cabinet one by one and attack them in the Senate. But Senator Schoeppel's smear of Secretary of the Interior Chapman has backfired so badly that the campaign will be abandoned. . . . Though President Truman told the press it is "customary" for the secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force to hand in their resignations when the secretary of Defense leaves, these three have agreed to stick together and not resign—unless requested. . . . Donald Dawson, an aide to President Truman, is being considered as head of the New York Stock Exchange. . . . About two months ago, Truman called ex-Undersecretary of State Bob Lovett to the White House and asked him to become Acheson's deputy to the Atlantic Union conferences. Lovett literally wept. His doctor had forbade him to take a job for another year.

Seating Red China

British Foreign Minister Bevin has been nursing a plan to get Communist China admitted to the United Nations through action by the general assembly.

Bevin has worked out his strategy with India's Premier Pandit Nehru. Both are convinced that, although Russia has been agitating for the Chinese Communists to be admitted to the U.N., actually, Russia is dead against Red China joining the world organization. According to British intelligence, Russia hopes that by keeping China out, she can remain as China's spokesman and appear to the Chinese people to be their one real friend.

Bevin and Nehru are also cinvinced that Mao Tse-Tung and the Kremlin are not getting along well. They hope Mao will become a Chinese "Tito."

Therefore, Bevin and Nehru plan to bring the question of seating the Chinese to a vote before the general assembly where the veto cannot be used. However, it will probably require a two-thirds vote to seat the Red Chinese and exclude the Nationalists. The British think they can muster the required votes to break the deadlock.

Merry-Go-Round

General Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, took off to rest and work on his memoirs the other day. Immediately fireworks broke loose. First Secretary of Defense Johnson was fired, then the Marines landed at Inchon. Bradley scurried back to the Pentagon. . . . Three military men have served as secretary of war. Maj. Gen. Henry Knox, an officer in the Revolutionary War, was the first secretary of war, while two Civil War generals—Grant and Sherman—also served as secretary. . . . The 953 lobbyists, paid $7,000,000 a year to bring pressure on Congress, are heading for home. . . . More than a million tons of steel plate and pipe have gone underground in the last six weeks—part of it bootlegged into the Texas oil fields, where it sells $50 a ton above the market price. . . . Industrialist Willard Rockwell almost let the cat out of the bag when he introduced Senator Byrd of Virginia as presidential timber last week in Pittsburgh. Representatives of the National Tax Association and National Association of Manufacturers have been urging Byrd privately to run for president, but Rockwell wasn't supposed to say anything about it. . . . Congressman Case of South Dakota has been paying for rainmaking experiments out of his own pocket. Due to the heavy expense, he now wants to shift the cost to Congress.

Friends Fear That Marshall's Health Will Fail on New Job

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Friends of Gen. George C. Marshall are privately unhappy about his appointment as secretary of Defense. His health, they say, just isn't up to the grueling physical and mental exertion required by that job.

The job broke James Forrestal. It was even having its effect on the bull frame and personality of Louis Johnson. Being secretary of Defense is second only to the presidency itself as a position that demands almost super physical stamina. As the position now exists it is impossible to break down many of its duties and functions for assignment to assistants. The law demands that the secretary of Defense perform certain duties. They're backbreaking for the youngest, healthiest man.

The story that those persons close to the general tell is that he neglected to mention to the President how frequently he has been to the doctor and how tired he is. Further, they say, the call to duty and a chance to make another big contribution in service to his country was such a temporary stimulant to him he doesn't realize himself quite what he's getting into.

Marshall May Retire in January

It is rumored that the deal with the President was that the general won't keep the job more than beyond the first of the year. By that time the President will have had time to find a suitable successor. The decision to relieve Johnson was made in such a short time there just wasn't time to find anyone else qualified or willing to take on such a big chore. Marshall was handy, had the experience and stature and the President knew his patriotism wouldn't permit him to refuse.

If General Marshall does leave the post in a short time, his health will be given as the legitimate reason for it. If something should happen to him in it, the job of secretary of Defense will be jinxed proper. Even if it is a short-term arrangement the general's friends say, the job is likely to shorten his life. Few men in public life have given the long, unstinted service which he has to the government. The responsibilities he shouldered during World War II alone were enough to age the average man into retirement.

Naturally all Defense and service officials are worried about what their futures will be under the new boss. There are speculations all over the place. And there is opinion that the need for the general to conserve his strength will have a bearing on the functions of the Defense Department—which might be beneficial.

Johnson never let anyone forget that he was boss and insisted on being cut in on a lot more conferences and meetings than was absolutely necessary. If Marshall relaxes the grip on the three service scretaries that Johnson held, letting them take more independent action, it could be an aid to mobilization. If this new freedom was abused, of course, it could set unification back or reopen old feuds.

Ground Forces Won't Be Neglected

One prediction is that Marshall as an Army ground officer will see that the neglect of the ground forces, revealed by Korea, will be speedily corrected.

It's also considered fairly certain that Robert A. Lovett will be asked to return to the government to work with Marshall. He was assistant secretary for Air when Marshall was chief of staff of the Army and he was Marshall's assistant when the general was secretary of state. Most Pentagon officials who know Lovett approve of this.

Still another important fact being considered in trying to anticipate Marshall's handling of the defense job is his former attitude toward unification. Marshall wanted a stronger unification than exists, with a top chief of staff instead of a joint chiefs of staff. He fought Forrestal on this issue and lost. Forrestal also was the main exponent of keeping civilian control of the Defense Department, a principle which will be violated under the present circumstance. It will be within the authority of the new secretary to change the complexion of the unification set-up if he wants to do it.

However, there are a group of key young men who have been with the unification plan ever since its birth. Johnson kept most of them on and it is expected that Marshall will do the same. Marx Leva is the outstanding one of these men. It is likely that he will be given more authority under the new set-up. He and the others who grew up with unification will be able to give the new department the continuity it needs at this critical stage of its growth.

GENERAL GUIDANCE THROUGH REVELATION IN CHRIST

We now look at those seven ways of guidance in a little more detail. (1) God gives general guidance through the character and person of Christ. Christ has revealed to us the nature of God—has shown us what He is like; He has lifted up into bold relief the laws that underlie our moral universe, and the laws that underlie our own spiritual, intellectual, and physical beings. In short, He has revealed to us the nature of Reality. Then Christ is our "general guidance." If we want to live according to the nature of Reality, then we must live according to Christ.

The Mohammedan says you cannot get guidance from Christ, for He was not married—He can give no guidance to the married. There are two ways to be an example: One is to live in every possible situation and then to show everybody how to live in that particular situation—a married man how to live as a married man, a mechanic how to live as a mechanic, and so forth. This type of guidance is obviously impossible. The other way to be an example is to live in such a way that one's life in a particular situation is lived on universal principles, so that the spirit of these principles can be applied anywhere. Jesus took the latter method. There is no situation conceivable where His spirit is not the norm for that situation. He is the universal conscience of humanity.

When you have this general guidance in Christ, there is no use to ask for specific guidance which is covered by this general guidance. Often we ask for specific guidance because we are unwilling to take the general guidance in Christ. Ask the question in any situation, "What is the Christlike thing to do?" And if you do it you will not go wrong. There is no use trying to prevail upon God to approve of any act or attitude that is other than Christlike. God cannot act or advise against His own nature, for He is Christlike.

Think of having guidance along the line of the Christlike!

O God, I see I am predestined to be conformed to the image of Thy Son, for the nature of reality is Christlike, and if I live according to it I will come out there. What a destiny awaits me! Help me to be willing to be thus predestined, for I would live. In Jesus' name. Amen.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Here's another of a question-and-answer series that tells how the Korean war affects reservists, veterans, draft-age men and anyone likely to be called to service. The author, a member of the Washington staff of NEA Service, conducted a widely-read column on "Your GI Rights" in the months following World War II. He will answer questions only in this space, not by mail.)

WASHINGTON — Q. My husband served 27 days in the army a couple of years ago and was then discharged because of an attack of asthma. He got a medical discharge. What are his chances of being drafted now?

A. Not good. He should show his medical discharge and medical record to the examining doctor. That should do the trick.

Q. What kind of activities would a woman have a chance of going into if she joined the navy?

A. Enlisted women are needed in all petty officer grades, including chief petty officer, in the emergency and general service ratings of teleman, radioman, communications technician, yeoman, personnelman, machine accountant, storekeeper, disbursing storekeeper, aerographer's mate, trademan, aviation storekeeper, hospital corpsman and dental technician.

Q. What's the policy, generally on the length of deferments a man can get from calls to active duty with the National Guard?

A. Delays will be granted for periods up to six months. Only in exceptional cases will more than one six-month delay be granted.

Q. Will my son be allowed to finish high school before being drafted?

A. The law provides that a high school student may continue his course until his graduation or until he reaches the age of 20, whichever is first. But his school work must be satisfactory.

Q. To whom does a man send his application for a deferment from a call to active duty?

A. In order to speed up the procedure, the army has authorized individual members of the Organized Reserve Corps to communicate directly with the military district commanders instead of going through normal administrative channels. Replies to individuals also will be made directly. A member of a National Guard unit will submit his application to his unit commander who will forward it to the state adjutant general.

The FORMER MISS FREY

By Edwin Rutt

Copyright 1950 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: The former Ede Frey, whose marriage to Peter Flood has not been happy, was placed by her father's will in charge of Frey & Company, an advertising agency. Besides business worries, Ede's two brothers, Jeffrey and Myron, and younger sister, Jenn, are of direct concern to Ede. Jenn in particular, because this 19-year-old is running around with a middle-aged man while standing up nice young Tommy Melbourne.

XVI

SUDDENLY Edith Frey knew that she wanted this clean gray-eyed kid Tommy Melbourne for Jenn. There was something open and honest about him; something promising, in spite of his incredible naivete. He and Jenn were right for each other. But Jenn, the 19-year-old idiot, might not see this, until it was too late.

"Look, Tommy," she said, on impulse. "Would it help any if I rode around with you?"

"Gee, would you?" he said eagerly. "I'd—I'd certainly like to talk to somebody."

"I'll get a wrap," Ede said.

Tommy Melbourne drove like the wind. He chose Long Island via the Triborough Bridge and, once out of the city, the speedometer needle rarely fell below 75. Ede sat back in her seat and was secretly ashamed of the way her feet pressed hard against the floorboards. But she wasn't very frightened. Tommy Melbourne's shoulders were broad and powerful and his big hands, gripping the wheel, gave her a feeling of confidence.

On the way to no fixed destination he told her about himself. He had, he said with a sidelong grin, graduated from Yale notably without honors. He was now in a bank, largely controlled by his father, and learning the business, as he put it, "from the basement up." He hastened to assure her that his father's influence was to make no difference in his progress. He didn't want that and neither did his father. According to Tommy, he was strictly on his own.

Ede liked his attitude. If only Jenn wouldn't insist upon acting like a born fool! Beside this clear-skinned young fellow, with his fresh eager outlook, Hamilton Grieve appeared jaded and shopworn.

"Good Heavens, Tommy," she said suddenly, interrupting him in a description of the intricate off-tackle play that had ruined Harvard the previous season. "Do you realize that we're nearly to Montauk?"

He turned to her and grinned. "Why not go all the way?"

"Why not?" said Ede.

Montauk Point jutted sharply into black water, silver-streaked by a white wandering moon. They parked and lit cigarets. Shadows closed around them, quiet and dark. Far below the waves lapped and murmured. As Tommy talked, Ede thought, "If I were Jenn, this would be Heaven for him. Why does the world have to be so cockeyed?"

HE drove home with speed and authority. They pulled up before the Frey house on Fifth Avenue at an unearthly hour.

Ede got out, gave him her hand. "Tommy, I've had a grand time. Simply swell. If I weren't an ancient married woman, I'd ask you to come again."

"I'd like to come again, all right," Tommy said. He hesitated, shyly.

She laughed. "You don't have to thank me for going with you. I honestly enjoyed it."

"I wasn't going to thank you," he said surprisingly. "I—I just wanted to say that you—that you're the swellest gal I ever went out with. I wish," he added simply, "that Jenn was like you."

"You forget that Jenn's only a kid. She's just being a little nutty right now. She'll get over it."

"I hope so," said Tommy, with feeling.

"She will." Ede pressed his hand. "In the meantime, I'm on your side. If that'll do any good."

He gave her a grateful look. "It helps," he said, and drove away.

Ede went upstairs on tiptoe, but it didn't work. There was a light under Jennifer's door and, as she passed it, the door opened. Jenn came out, attired in Chinese pajamas.

"Where on earth have you been, Ede Frey?" she demanded. "It's 4 in the morning."

"Out," Ede said. "For that matter, why aren't you in bed?"

"I only got in myself half an hour ago," Jenn confessed.

Ede said wickedly, "You haven't been keeping Hamilton up, have you?"

Jenn stared at her. "How did you know I was out with him?"

"I'm clairvoyant," Ede said. "Goodnight, darling."

But Jenn followed her into the room. "Where were you?" she persisted.

"I'm over 21. I don't have to give an accounting of myself, do I?"

"No," Jenn was suspicious. "But it seems funny. You've never pulled one like this before."

EDE was looking at a letter from Peter Flood that someone had left on her dressing-table. It had come air mail and special delivery. The outside of the envelope was colorfully plastered with stamps.

"If you've got to know," she said, "I went out with a very charming young man. That's all. Good night, Jenn!"

Ede took her sister by the shoulders, wheeled her around and pushed her out of the door. She turned the key in the lock.

One of Jenn's soft mules thudded angrily against the outside of the door. Then Ede heard her going to her room. Ede smiled and opened the letter from Peter. The next instant it dropped from her fingers.

Peter Flood was asking for a divorce.

The Doctor Says—

Hay Fever Allergy Is Miserable But Partial Relief Is Possible

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Late August is a gloomy time for about 10 or 12 million sufferers from ragweed hay fever. The reason for the regularity is because ragweed begins to shed its pollen into the air at about the same time every year.

When the symptoms are severe the nose alternates between a stage of running mucus and being completely stuffed up. The eyes water, itch and sometimes are so swollen that they can hardly be opened in the morning. Sneezing comes in fits of 20 or 30 sneezes at a time, leaving the victim slightly relieved but exhausted. Usually the person who has severe ragweed hay fever is completely miserable for three or four weeks and has some trouble for one or two weeks at either end.

When the frost has destroyed the pollen there is no further trouble unless a little dust which contains the pollen is stirred up. This does not mean that hay fever has no complications, however, as there is a tendency for those who have had hay fever for several years to develop asthma, which is a still more distressing condition than hay fever itself.

Probably the best treatment for ragweed hay fever for most people is to try to be desensitized, that is, to have the sensitiveness to the pollen decreased by injections or "shots" of pollen extracts. These are best given either all the year around or for several months before the season starts.

Many hay fever victims are partially and temporarily relieved by air conditioning. This relief is due to the filtering of pollen out of the air which is breathed in. Sometimes a room which has a pollen filter in the window gives a certain amount of comfort.

Drugs May Help

A great many people plan to take their vacations during the hay fever season and go to places where the pollen is either absent or very slight. In this way they can get relief for at least part of the time.

Several drugs known as antihistamines and going under various trade names bring considerable relief to many hay fever sufferers. These drugs act for only a short time, but they do help many hay fever victims when their symptoms are intolerable. They are not entirely lacking in undesirable effects, however, and therefore should not be taken without some medical supervision. Furthermore, some people seem to be helped more by one kind of preparation and some by another.

Dr. Jordan will answer questions from his readers in a special column once a week. Watch for it.

TEL AVIV, Israel —(AP)— A barter scheme for the exchange of tourists between Israel and other countries is being considered by the government. J. N. Shye, director-general of the ministry of immigration, said the scheme would restrict the exit of Israelis and save foreign exchange.

He added restrictions had again been imposed and the severity of their enforcement will depend upon the foreign exchange situation.

Old Laws Worry British Innkeepers

LONDON — (AP) — Laws framed hundreds of years ago, when highwaymen terrorized the roads, are worrying British innkeepers. The matter came to a head after a motorist claimed damages for loss of his car stolen from an inn car park. The judge found the innkeeper liable.

The old laws were made for protection of travelers against highwaymen. Innkeepers say they were quite reasonable when framed. A thief could hardly break into stables and bring out a horse, much less harness it to a carriage or coach, without the landlord or stable boy knowing it. Today, they say, a car can be driven away from a car park without the landlord's knowing that the driver is not the owner.

Bread Makes Bookmark

JOHNSON CITY, Pa.—(AP)—Do you use a piece of bread for a bookmark, or a comb or a pair of scissors? Maybe you don't but some people do, because these are among the things librarians at the Mayne Williams library here have found in books.

Other customers have used pencils, bobby pins, nail files, powder puffs, baby mittens and letters. There are lots of letters, especially those with "please remit" written on them.

Film Kisses Fret Indians

LUCKNOW, India — (AP) — No Indian kisses his wife on a railway platform, the government's film inquiry committee has been told.

Begum Aizaz Rasul, woman member of the legislative council here, made the observation as she complained that Indian films misrepresent Indian women. Love scenes as shown in Indian films "do not exist in our society as in America," she asserted.

Israelis Like Ice Cream

TEL AVIV, Israel —(AP)— Business not only is rushing at an American-style ice cream shop in Tel Aviv — it's out of hand. Israelis, from 10 a. m. to midnight daily, push their way in and out of "The Penquin."

It's the only place in all Israel where one can buy milk shakes, ice cream sodas, popcorn waffles, and sandwiches made of Israeli bologna. All that's lacking is hamburgers. They're not available because of meat shortages. An enterprising young Jewish immigrant from New York started the business. He never has a dull moment handling thousands of customers daily.
